IN ASIA and THE PACIFIC

A FEMINIST FUNDING MANIFESTO

The first edition in a unique convergence, Revolutionising Philanthropy was organised to facilitate a shared vision for feminist funding that is flexible and transformative in the Asia and the Pacific region. The Convergence was organised by eight members of Prospera - The International Network of Women's Funds from the Asia & Pacific region. In late September 2019, almost 130 activists, funders, and other allies committed to the realisation of women, girls, and trans* human rights in the region gathered in safe and political space for open and dynamic discussions.

We gathered the six most important highlights spanning the three days and put together a manifesto for feminist funding. These highlights are featured on pages with blue borders and are accompanied by some glimpses into key moments of discussion during the course of the Convergence.

Given the diversity in the room of languages, cultures, and identities, an inclusive and participatory methodology was adopted by the facilitators. Innovative methodologies were used such as dance parties, Lego Serious Play for building communication and creative thinking, as well as "Cosy Corners" for participants to recharge and relax. These were combined with panel discussions, plenaries, group work, and table discussions to enhance experience-sharing.

A big thank you to all the participants who came together to interact and learn from one another with open minds and hearts, and thank you to the donors who made this dream possible.

*Trans is a term that covers a diversity of gender identities and forms of gender expressions, including transfeminine, transmasculine, non-binary, and gender non-confirming people, as well as intersex people.
